

A FALL FOLK FEST WITH MARK DVORAK & FRIENDS!

Friday November 11, 2016 ~ 7:30 p.m.

Mark Dvorak has forged a reputation as an uncompromising road warrior, traveling to thirty-six states and to Europe with only his songs, stories, guitar and five string banjo...

The Chicago Tribune calls him “masterful,”

Sing Out! Magazine says, “Dvorak shines.”

His song writing has been called “wondrous” and “profound,” and he has an “encyclopedic knowledge of traditional songs.”

His show is “funny, passionate, intimate and unforgettable.”

Saturday, November 12, 2016 ~ 7:30 p.m.

On Saturday, Mark will lead a sing-a-long “Hootenanny,” featuring guest appearances by area musicians and friends of Wild Rose Moon.

There will be cider, donuts and other scrumptious treats on hand, as well as song sheets for those who wish to sing-a-long. We’ll be singing songs from the American Folk Song book, “Rise up Singing,” as well as old standards and audience favorites—Come party in the Fall!

Wild Rose Moon
115 North Michigan Street

Historic Downtown Plymouth, Indiana

Tix: A.S.K. for Flowers, Wagoner's Music, Eventbrite.com